

Maggie Reimer

Calling on superior organizational skills and boundless energy, Maggie Reimer runs the PCC office from top to bottom. For company staff, affiliates and clients, she is the go-to source for a myriad of administrative services. Before joining PCC, Maggie held a series of business consultant, sales and customer service posts during a six-year span, during which time she also earned her BS in business administration, with a human resources option, from California State University.